And the 2021 Arch Awards Go To . . .

A Rhodes scholar who quit his job and set off on a hike this summer . . . make that an 1,100-km trek! A doctor whose journey took her to South Africa in the '80s . . . from which she's never left. A professor whose reach has exceeded some 500,000 students. A neuroscientist who loves horses, a philanthropist whose great-great grandfather was a pirate, a serial entrepreneur. . . all remarkable, all alumni. Discover more about these extraordinary alumni and then join us at the 37th annual Arch Awards.

Guaranteed to Be Inspired . . . and Entertained!

The Best of Calgary Pride Week Events for 2021

Kicking off the city's annual LGBTQ2S+ celebration is UCalgary's star-studded lineup of young Indigenous artists and intellectuals such as novelist and asst. professor Joshua Whitehead, poet Billy-Ray Belcourt and special musical guest Shawnee Kish. Outdoor storytelling for kids, drive-in movies, the parade (online) and dozens of other events are on this year's lineup.

What's on Your Bookshelf?

Books are a comfort at the best of times. At the worst of times, they can become essential companions. Precisely why we launched a summer reading series dubbed Alumni Bookshelf. Every week, on Instagram, we choose a genre and swap titles with other well-read alumni book-lovers. This week, we're on the hunt for favourite cookbooks. Everyone has one — what's yours?
