Throwback Tuesday
Back in 1992, you might have spotted this poster around Calgary, promoting science as a career-choice to girls in junior and senior high. This "radical" poster was distributed by UCalgary’s Women in Science and Engineering group — a decade before the STEM acronym was even a thing. Recent Statistics Canada data shows women make up 34 per cent of STEM bachelor’s degree holders and represent only 23 per cent of science and technology workers — something that Dr. Laleh Behjat, PhD, (UCalgary’s NSERC Chair for Women in Science and Engineering (Prairies)) is aiming to change.
